Introduction

The data contained within this book and the resulting archived photographs are the direct result of the author's on-going anthropological research into mortality. A total of ten Catholic cemeteries in Southeastern Missouri and Southwestern Illinois—all selected at random—were included in the data collection (See Figure 1). Although this current collection includes only images from Catholic cemeteries, work is currently underway to index and permanently archive both digital and print photographs that were taken in cemeteries throughout the United States, Europe, Central America, and Turkey that represent other religious groups, tribes, non-demoninational cemeteries, and also secular burials.

Data Collection

After arriving at each cemetery, the grounds were surveyed and photographed. These photographs appear in a file titled, "Additional Photographs" that are included in the first CD for each cemetery (See Table 1). Every single tombstone, marker, or stone in each cemetery was then photographed with a Nikon D3000 camera with an AF-S Nikon 55-200mm lens. No filters were used and the images were not edited in any manner. Photographs were taken at a variety of different angles and lengths, resulting in from one to twenty-two photographs for each stone, including both up-close and distant images. During the photography, tombstones that appeared hard to decipher in the field were transcribed on-site so that correct names and dates of birth and death could be indexed later off-site. Although the notes were not later transcribed and placed in separate files, endnotes have been added and appear in the endnotes.

Images were then extracted using the ViewNX program and transferred as either .jpgs or .tiff files, which were later transferred into an electronic folder for data entry and indexing. After indexing was complete, images were saved to CD's in .jpg or .tiff formats in 300 dpi which is suitable for most reproduction purposes, and two copies were made. The first set of copied CD's are being curated at the Allen County Public Library, and the second set are in the possession of the author.

Indexing

All the images (n= 5,436, or a total of 5,436 interments) were indexed twice. A master index for each cemetery was separately compiled, while a second index including all ten cemeteries was also created. Both indexes are arranged alphabetically, first by the deceased's surname, followed by their forename. Where double tombstones were present, both individuals were grouped together, and the CD files include the names of both of those interments. Likewise, where family markers are present, several interments are grouped together under a single file. Each image is grouped with the cemetery in which they are found under the cemetery's ID.

In the indexes, all data contained within brackets (e.g. [...]) is information that came from sources other than the tombstone and the sources for those data are included in the endnotes. The first index—Interments Arranged by Cemetery—includes footnotes citing those sources. However, the second index—Interments Arranged by Surname—excludes those footnotes, so it is necessary to cross-reference the names in the second index with the first one. Although including endnotes in the second index would have been convenient, this inclusion would have resulted in an unnecessary replication.

In addition to the photographs, a transcribed burial book for Our Lady Help of Christians Cemetery that was located on-site was also photographed, and these images appear on CD 187.

Symbols

The cemeteries contained in this compilation are only partially reconstructed, so most unmarked burials have not been searched for. When burials were reconstructed, a symbol, “REC” appears in the CD column, indicating that no photograph exists. When tombstones omitted complete birth and death data partial reconstruction was attempted. In the case of partial reconstruction, death certificates, parish death records, and U.S. censuses were utilized to provide days and months of birth and death, and citations were included to reveal exactly from where that information was extracted.

Other symbols include †, which indicates that the deceased was buried and/or memorialized in the Unborn Children's Monument in St. Andrew's Catholic Cemetery in Murphysboro, Jackson Co., Ill.

Accessing the Images

This collection of cemetery photographs was donated to the Allen County Public Library for the purpose of making these data accessible to the public, and particularly those patrons who live distantly from Southern Missouri and Illinois. The images curated by Allen County Public Library can be accessed at the library on-site. Alternatively, images can be purchased online through the library's collection webpage at <http://www.GenealogyCenter.org>. These photographs can be used either in print or placed online in accordance with the library's usage policy.

Karl states that an infant died on 20 July 1885 at the age of 8 months and 20 days (calculated approximate birth date of 30 October 1884) and was buried in St. Mary's Church in Vinyard. Our Lady Help of Christians in Weingarten, Missouri was referred to as St. Mary's Catholic Church in Vineyard in other records. It is possible that this child is the same Theresa. The approximate birth days and months listed in Theresa's birth entry which are enclosed in brackets reflect data from both the burial book and the Ste. Genevieve County birth record. However, additional research into Theresa's birth should be conducted to pinpoint the correct date of birth. See Theresa H. Karl entry, Missouri Birth & Death Records Database Pre-1910, Mo. State Archives, www.sos.mo.gov/archives, accessed 13 December 2012.

According to the cemetery's burial book that is available onsite near the map outside, Barbara Maria Koller died on 24 October 1906 at the age of six years. The 1900 census for Ste. Genevieve was searched and Barbara was not found. Barbara either was born in 1900 after the census was enumerated or her tombstone is correct and she was born the same month and year that she died. The transcribed burial book onsite could contain an error (e.g. 6 years instead of 6 days). Ecclesiastical records for Our Lady Help of Christians should be examined to find possible birth and/or baptismal records to pinpoint Barbara's correct date of birth.

34. Salome's tombstone is extremely weathered and difficult to decipher. Only the day of birth and year of death were legible. The 1880 census, which enumerates Salome as "Salme [sic] Koller" provided an approximate birth date of 1825. See F.X. Koller household, 1880 U.S. census, Ste. Genevieve Co., Mo., pop. sch., Union twp., ED 137, SD 2, sh. 1A [printed], dw. 8, fl. 8; NA microfilm T9, roll 715.

He died 17 December 1914 in Iron Co., Mo., and was buried on 19 December 1914 in the Pilot Knob Catholic Cemetery. In 1880, Thomas was living with his parents Patrick and Elizabeth in Iron County, Mo. 1. Maria's entry in the parish records identify her as Maria Ballistreri Stanfa, born in Italy on 27 March 1887, died 23 January 1911, and buried on 25 January 1911 in St. Andrew's Cemetery. See Maria Ballistreri entry, Diocese of Belleville, St. Andrew Catholic Church, Murphysboro, Jackson Co., Ill., Parish Deaths 1904-1956, Record of Interments, pg. 9, image 9; www.familysearch.org, accessed 14 November 2012.

2. Magdalena's tombstone (and the Daniel tombstone with no inscription) bore no surname. The assumption of the surname Daniel was based on first, the fact that her tombstone was located directly next to the tombstone of Mary M., wife of Bernard Daniel and can be seen in Mary's tombstone photograph, and second, Magdalena's tombstone is made out of the same material as Mary's. The St. Andrew Parish Records showed no death date for any child named Magdalena; those records were searched for the years 1892-1895. A woman with the name Maria Magdalene (Berger) Daniel did die on 20 August 1896. However, that woman was born in 1863. See Diocese of Belleville, St. Andrew Catholic Church, Murphysboro, Jackson Co., Ill., Parish Deaths 1904-1956, Record of Interments; www.familysearch.org, accessed 07 November 2012.

7. This plot contains the graves of three individuals, Frank, Romilda, and Frank Jr. The plot contains three stones with the individuals' first names and years and dates of birth, with a larger stone in the center. The large tombstone—more than likely inscribed with the surname—fell over face-first and could not be lifted. Based on census records, it is presumed that their surname is more than likely Baroli. In the 1920 census, the family—Frank (age 50), Roma (age 44), Frank (age 17) and their daughter Mary (age 14) were living in Murphysboro, Jackson Co., Ill. An entry for Frank Baroli, age 22, was entered into the St. Andrew Parish Register of Deaths, stating that he died on 18 March 1925, and was buried in St. Andrew Cemetery on 21 March of that same year. By 1930, Frank and Romilda remained in Murphysboro. The parish records also reveal the death and burial dates for Frank and Romilda, supporting the assumption that the deceased's surname was Baroli: Frank Baroli was recorded as born 22 February 1872, died 12 December 1939, and was buried 14 December 1939 in St. Andrew Cemetery; Mrs. Frank (Romilda) Baroli was listed as having been born 8 October 1869, died 24 November 1943, and was buried on 27 November in St. Andrew Cemetery of that same year. Only the years of birth and death are provided by Frank's tombstone; the data in brackets were obtained from his death entry.

“Stricklin’s meticulous work is imbued with reverence and respect. The careful annotations and supportive evidence found in this book will be indispensable to any scholars or family members who traverse the “holy ground” wherein lay the remains of the saints gone before us.”

—Rev. Joseph A. Brown, SJ; Ph.D, Chair, Dept. of Africana Studies, Southern Illinois University Carbondale

“Stricklin’s book focuses on local, primarily rural populations, people whose “hidden history” is revealed in a meticulous study of cemeteries and genealogical records. This book makes an important contribution to regional demography, migration studies, health and longevity, rural life, and local history that should not be overlooked.”

—Andrew Balkansky, Professor of Anthropology, Southern Illinois University Carbondale

Anthropologists and family historians alike recognize cemeteries as important research sites to gather data. Unfortunately, many cemeteries are only partially transcribed, while others have not been documented at all. The author has traveled throughout four counties in Southeastern Missouri and Southwestern Illinois and photographed over five thousand burials located within ten Catholic Cemeteries.

Stricklin offers readers access to this on-going research by providing a two-part published index to all ten cemeteries and instructions on how to access these archived images which have been donated to the Allen County Public Library. The first section provides alphabetical arrangement of interments by surname in each of the ten cemeteries, while the second section lists all burials together and is alphabetized by the deceased’s surname. Both indexes provide the CD number where the photographs are stored so that those images can be accessed and utilized by other researchers.

Dawn C. Stricklin is a doctoral student in anthropology at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Her work appears in several journals, including the National Genealogical Society Quarterly and Annals of Genealogical Research, and she has been published by a number of different presses, including Picton Press and Heritage Books, Inc.
